A photograph of two orchids in pots with a lit candle. The orchid in the foreground is in a dark, textured pot and has a long, curved stem with several large, green, lanceolate leaves. The stem is covered in small, dark, velvety sheaths. At the top of the stem, there is a cluster of light pink orchid flowers with darker pink centers. Some buds are still closed. The orchid in the background is in a similar dark pot and has a more upright stem with fewer leaves. A small, lit candle in a dark, cylindrical holder is positioned in the lower right foreground, casting a warm, yellow glow. The background is dark and out of focus.
